A very belated note to thank you for your superb attentiveness during my visit [redacted]. Our security officers were well pleased with the excellent support they received, making my visit that much easier. I well appreciate the personal time that you devoted to that visit and am very grateful for it.

Your [redacted] came in handy--another reason for the desirability of having admin officers with the language.

I hope all goes well with you and your family in the New Year and I wish you the best of luck. Again, many thanks.

Regards,

John N. McMahon
